

ELSIE WHELEN IS NOW MRS. GOELET IN A HURRY TO SUE GUGGENHEIM

Famous Beauty of Philadelphia
Bride of the Wealthy Young
New Yorker at Wedding
Marked by Innovation.

ALICE ROOSEVELT WAS ONE OF THE BRIDESMAIDS.

Brilliant Ceremony, at Which Bride's Attendants in March Beat "Cupid's Drum" in Unison with Organ.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Miss Elsie Whelen and Robert Goelet were married in St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, at Wayne, to-day amid a show of magnificence wholly in keeping with the event, which has been the topic in society of New York and Philadelphia for months.

The ceremony, which took place at noon, was witnessed by some 500 guests. The bride's dress was a beautiful creation of white chiffon lace and tulle. She wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of orchids and gardenias.

Bishop McVicker, of Rhode Island, and Rev. Floyd Tomkins, rector of Holy Trinity Church, Philadelphia, stood on the altar as the procession moved up the aisle, and as the bride and her attendants were near the altar, the organ played a march, and the bridesmaids, all of whom carried pink silk parasols, beat time with the tips on the floor to imitate Cupid's drums.

The effect, which was waited for with interest by the guests, was quite what was expected, the tapping in answer to the organ being quite perfect. The bridesmaids were Alice Roosevelt, Frances Gracem, Adeline Jordan, Esther White Harrison, Edith Gues, Braen, Pauline Biddle, Marion Haven and Nora Iselin. Mrs. Craig Biddle was matron of honor.

Ogden Mills had been delegated to fill Walter Goelet's place as best man, and Craig Biddle had been pressed into service as an usher to replace him. The other ushers were Robert Gerry, Rogers Winthrop, William Whelen, Arthur Iselin and Arthur Burden.

Later in the day the bridal couple left for Newport, R. I., where they will spend the honeymoon at Ochre Court. While the list of wedding gifts was withheld by the family, it is known that Mr. Goelet gave his bride a train of diamonds valued at $50,000. Another rare gift was a collection of diamond and emerald jewels from the Duchess of Roxburghe, while the mother of the bridegroom sent a costly array of diamonds and pearls.

The bride's mother gave some wonderful diamonds and topaz. All the New York friends of the bride and bridegroom were lavish in the presents, one of the gifts being a Russian tea set, incriminated with jewels and arranged on a massive inlaid silver service. The value of the gifts runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

LIVE WIRES MAKE FIRE IN BROADWAY

Firemen Turn the Hose on a
Small Blaze and Cause Two Explosions Just Below John Street.

Ignorance of the eccentricities of live wires, on the part of firemen, was responsible for two explosions and a lot of smoke and flame on the west side of Broadway, just below John street, late this afternoon. This part of Broadway is covered with planking, beneath which the subway extension is being constructed. The planking caught fire from some badly insulated wires of the Edison Company. As the dry timber blazed up a fire alarm was sent in and soon a squad of firemen appeared under Deputy Chief Walker.

The firemen ripped up a lot of the blazing planks until they got at the heart of the fire. Then they turned a stream of water into the excavation right on the live wires. The inevitable happened. First there was a sheet of flame, and then a deafening explosion. The firemen dropped their hose line and citizens scattered in every direction, while a cloud of smoke ascended heavenward.

A modest citizen suggested that the firemen throw sand on the flame, but he was disregarded. "Throw on water; lots of it," roared Walker, and the firemen took the hose again. Again there was a sheet of flame, an explosion and a cloud of smoke. Again the firemen dropped the hose and citizens made for cover. The modest citizen repeated his warning against water and once more urged sand. Chief Walker, somewhat subdued, heeded the advice this time, and in about two minutes the fire was out.

The fire made a rather fine spectacle as long as the firemen used water on the live wires, but became very ordinary when they used sand.

Advertisers in World Want get a larger circulation than any other successful New York want medium can give them.

Hannah McNamara's Lawyers
Will Appeal from Decision Refusing to Advance Case to Head of Calendar.

DECLARE THAT SHE IS NOT AN ADVENTRESS

Aged Millionaire's Counsel Say
They Will Not Permit Him to Be Made Tool of Designing Woman.

An appeal from the decision of Justice Clarke, of the Supreme Court, refusing to expedite the trial of the suit of Hannah McNamara for breach of promise against multi-millionaire Meyer Guggenheim, by putting the case at the top of the calendar, will at once be taken by the woman's lawyers, Messrs. Levy & Unger.

Just as promptly will Mr. Guggenheim's attorneys interpose an objection. They will not, they said to-day, permit their client to be made the tool of a "designing woman."

According to Hannah McNamara's lawyers, Mr. Guggenheim only within the present year personally conducted a search for "Mrs. Meyer," after she realized that he did not intend to abide by his alleged promise to wed her, after their twenty-seven years of friendship.

Lawyer Henry Unger informed a reporter for The Evening World to-day that among the affidavits in the case are several alleging that Mr. Guggenheim made personal inquiries concerning the whereabouts of Hannah McNamara, and through the assistance of the affidants succeeded in locating the woman in an uptown apartment.

"So carefully did Mr. Guggenheim conduct the search," said Mr. Unger, "that none of our witnesses knew him as Mr. Guggenheim, but did know him on his own introduction as Mr. Meyer. 'Adventresses don't go into the courts openly. One day will complete the trial of our case. We deny that Miss McNamara led a gay life. She was Mr. Guggenheim's slave for twenty-seven years, and being cast off when she is past her prime and without support, she looks to Millionaire Guggenheim for the rights that are due her.'"

Miss McNamara is residing in an apartment uptown. Her lawyers are keeping her whereabouts secret. She visited their office yesterday. She is matronly looking, and was dressed in sombre black, including a veil, which gave her the appearance of being in mourning.

Mr. Guggenheim, who has a city home at No. 25 West Seventy-seventh street, said to-day that he would fight the suit to the last. Those who are seeking to wrest $100,000 from him for an alleged breach of promise to wed Hannah McNamara, he said, will find no John R. Platt in him.

Mr. Guggenheim asserts that the woman has bothered him constantly and in her own mind out of his contention he declares that he has a number of affidavits from servants who have seen and heard her threats against him. Because of Mr. Guggenheim's age the woman asks for an early trial, fearing the old man will die.

GIRL WANTS TO BE SENT AWAY

Eleven-Year-Old Mabel Hare
Makes Unusual Request of Judge Fitzgerald in the Brooklyn Children's Court.

Mabel Hare, eleven years old, of No. 130 Nassau avenue, Brooklyn, to-day asked Judge Fitzgerald, in the Children's Court, to send her to a place where she could be good.

"I have been going with bad girls who are older than I am to Bergen Beach and other places at night," she said, "and they have been introducing me to men whom they wanted me to go away with."

"I knew I was doing wrong, and when I found that these girls kept on coming around for me to go with them I asked my mamma to come here with me."

Mrs. Hare, who accompanied her daughter, said, saying that, that the child, who was a pupil in the second primary class of the Leonard street school, had been met after school nearly every day by girls fifteen and sixteen years old, who would take her to the beach.

"I did not want her to come here," the mother said, "but she would not let me take her home. I must get away from these girls, as they are all bad," she said.

Judge Fitzgerald turned her over to Agent Lubbock of the Children's Society, instructing him to make an investigation and report on the case to-morrow.

REPORTED BY WIRELESS.

German Lloyd Steamer Passes
Nantucket Lightship.

A North German Lloyd steamer probably Friedrich der Grosse, from Bremen via Cherbourg for New York, is reported by wireless telegraph as having passed Nantucket Lightship at 2 P. M.

The vessel will probably dock about 5 A. M. to-morrow.

Great Spectacular Show at a Third Avenue Theatre. Don't Fail to See Him Loop-the-Loop After a Pool-Room Keeper. Remember, There Will Be a Grand Concert After the Big Performance.

PAT SHEEDY SUES SON OF RICHARD C. KERENS

Seeks to Collect $20,000 on a Note Given to Arthur Pierce to Cover Gambling
Losses at Ostend.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 14.—Vincent Kerens, President of the Kerens National Committee, son of Republican National Committeeman Richard C. Kerens and one of St. Louis's most prominent young society leaders, is named as defendant in a suit filed in the Circuit Court this afternoon by Pat Sheedy, a noted gambler, who sues to recover $20,000 on a promissory note, which he avers Kerens gave to Sheedy's friend, Arthur Pierce, now dead, at Ostend, Belgium, July 30, 1900, to cover gambling losses.

Vincent Kerens and his father, Col. R. C. Kerens, in an interview admitted the genuineness of the Pierce note, but declared that the paper was not negotiable; that Sheedy had no right and under the law he could not recover judgment.

"I am satisfied," said young Kerens, "that Sheedy was neither a legal nor a moral claim upon me. If he did I would settle with him at once. He tried to sell the note to me a year ago, or I would have given it to him. If I would buy from him some blue-brass he had for sale, I refused point blank to enter into any negotiations with him."

"Did you lose the amount of money this note represents at Ostend, Belgium, that is a long story and I do not care to go into it. I suppose a young fellow makes a mistake at some time of his life."

"If Mr. Pierce were alive and presented the note to you for redemption would you pay over the money?"

"Mr. Kerens' father then entered the room. 'Oh, that Sheedy matter,' was his comment. 'There is nothing to that except this: My son got in with a gang of shavers and was put over the route. It was the same crowd that got John W. Gates's money.'

The incident leading up to Sheedy's suit took place during the wedding trip that followed the marriage of Vincent Kerens and Miss Jane Bedford Henry, daughter of Mrs. Katherine Henry, of New York, at Elkins, Va., on June 10, 1900. In Paris they met Arthur Pierce, who represented himself as a mining investor from Australia. Pierce and his companions went away with Mr. Kerens and accompanied him to Ostend, Belgium. At the Casino there the young man pled for high stakes, and his losses were so great that Kerens gave Pierce his note for $20,000.

Mr. Kerens received money from St. Louis by cable next day and departed for home. About two years later Arthur Pierce met Pat Sheedy, who killed him in Colombo, Ceylon, in January, 1902.

When the case came up to-day Nellie was brought into court by an agent of the S. P. C. A., who sat her on the Judge's bench. She isn't much bigger than a peanut and certainly seemed tame and docile.

"I want her destroyed, as it will show all other persons that they can not keep ferocious and savage dogs," said Flanagan.

"But Nellie seems to be very gentle," said the Judge. "I don't believe she would have attacked you sufficiently to injure you. Mrs. Bartz can take Nellie back home with her."

Mrs. Bartz wept all over Nellie, took her in a chaise and marched triumphantly from the room.

WOMAN IS BURIED AT SEA.

Mrs. Thomas Jones, of Pittsburgh, Dies on the Rotterdam.

The steamship Rotterdam, to-day from Rotterdam and Boulogne, reported the death on board June 8 of Mrs. Thomas Jones, of Pittsburgh. With her husband she was returning from a European trip. Her death was sudden, believed to have been from heart trouble. The body was buried at sea.

The Rotterdam passed on June 11 in latitude 41° 10' N. longitude 11° 15' W. above the surface of the water. The steamship did not pass near enough to the derelict to identify it.

GIRL FELL RIGHT UNDER TROLLEY

Child Dashed Across Second Avenue as the Car Bounded Forward, and the Motorman
Could Not Stop It.

Motorman No. 157, of the Second Avenue line, was whistling "Cordelia Malone" and feeling at peace with himself as his car, No. 981, approached Stuyvesant square this afternoon. He had just come through the crowded street. There was nothing in sight.

He put the lever over to the last notch, loosened up the brake and slammed the bell a soft kick, just because he was feeling fine. He had reached the part of the song where he was threatening with his breath, to automobile him all over the park when one of the children on the sidewalk started to run across the street.

It was a little girl. She wore a white dress and had long black hair, tied with blue ribbons. The motorman saw all to wait. He knew it was a mother's child. He saw that the child was going to run into that little girl.

"Wild Effort to Stop Car." "Cordelia Malone" died a sudden death. The motorman danced on the bell, switched back the lever and threw himself at the brake with the strength of a team of horses. The car bounded along.

So did the little girl. She got to the track just in time to encounter the car and out of sight of the motorman she went. He heard a scream from the sidewalk, a scream that turned his blood to water. He knew it was a mother's scream.

For nearly a block the car groaned and struggled before it came to a stop. In a twinkling of an eye the motorman lived a third in the white dress, mangled and buried under the wheels and in the crowd machine on the car track dropped from his face. His eyes were like the eyes of a fish.

As the car stopped he tore the gate fastening loose and reached the ground with one leap. Out in front of him lay the little girl in the white dress. She looked about in a bewildered way, primly brushed the dust off her white gown and started across the car tracks immediately she had another collision.

This time it was with her mother. The distracted parent came along with the speed of a locomotive. Literally she fell upon the child. Between her sobs she uttered incoherent words of endeavor and thankfulness. The motorman began to cry. The little girl began to sob. The crowd gathered on the car proceeded to commit hysteria.

A Story of Death Spread.

From every direction people had heard the mother's scream ran toward the car. The accident was known of as far away as Avenue B. Fourteen children had been killed and their corpses were scattered all over the street. Mothers whose children were out at play in toward Second Avenue with fear in their hearts.

Two policemen went into the crowd. At that time the mother had finished crying the little girl. She had a scratch on her right elbow. Her first name was Catherine. The policeman who tried to put her other name down in his report book yelped his hand.

Under the gentle persuasion of the policeman the crowd scattered. The motorman mounted to his platform and started his car. It was a halting, unsatisfactory journey. The No. 981 made to Harlem. The motorman stopped every time he saw a truck on the track a block away.

Motorman No. 157 is booked to spend a cool summer. Every time he passes the east side of Stuyvesant Square he will have a chill.

MRS. HELEN C. PEEDY DEAD.

FARMINGTON, Me., June 14.—Mrs. Helen C. Peedy, whose ability and devotion to temperance work was recognized a year ago by her appointment as a national organizer of the National W. C. T. U., and who was president of the National Dorothea Dix Association, died to-day. Mrs. Peedy was an active worker with the late Frances Willard.

TURN OVER TIME
When Nature Hints About the Food.

When there's no relish to any food and all that one eats doesn't seem to make a turn over in the diet, for that's nature's way of dropping a hint that the food isn't the kind required.

"For a number of years I followed railroad work, much of it being office work of a trying nature. Meal times were our busiest, and eating too much and too quickly of food such as is commonly served in hotels and restaurants, these, together with the sedentary habits, were not long in giving me dyspepsia and stomach trouble, which reduced my weight from 205 to 160 pounds.

"There was little relish in any food, and none of it seemed to do me any good. It seemed the more I ate the poorer I got, and was always hungry before another meal, no matter how much I had eaten.

"Then I commenced a fair trial of Grape-Nuts, and was surprised how a small saucer of it would carry me along, strong and with satisfied appetite, until the next meal, with no sensations of hunger, weakness or distress, as before.

"I have been following this diet now for several months, and my improvement has been so great all the others in my family have taken up the use of Grape-Nuts, with complete satisfaction and much improvement in health and brain power.

"American people undoubtedly eat hurriedly, have lots of worry, thus hindering digestion, and therefore need a food that is predigested and concentrated in nourishment." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Look in each pkg. for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

MISS FLORENCE MILLER.

Disguised Catarrh.

There are a great many people who are actually invalids from chronic catarrh of some internal organ who have not the slightest suspicion that they are victims of this universal disease.

This is especially true in cases of chronic catarrh of the organs in the lower part of the abdomen or pelvic organs. It begins to manifest itself in a number of ways. We can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the various symptoms, and when a physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic and grateful letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

cause their strength and vitality is sapped away by catarrhal discharges. Peruna is such a specific for such cases that when patients have once used it they can never be induced to quit it until they are permanently cured. It begins to relieve the disagreeable symptoms at once. The backache ceases, the trembling knees are strengthened, the appetite restored, digestion made perfect, the dull headache is stopped and the patients are gradually cured. These results certainly follow course of treatment with Peruna.

We have on file many thousand testimonials from our readers, and we can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the vast amount of suffering and when a physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic and grateful letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

CZAR TO PUT MILLION SOLDIERS IN FIELD

Emperor Determined to Be Victorious in Far East, and Will Lose Great Number of Men to Drive Japanese
Army from Manchuria and Corea.

LONDON, June 14.—Following the announcement that the Russians have met defeat at Siungyo Mountain, where they fell into a trap, comes the unofficial announcement from St. Petersburg that the Czar will, if necessary, sacrifice 1,000,000 men on the field of battle to conquer the Japanese and bring success to the arms of Russia.

It is said that the Czar is full of confidence that his army will win and that the enemy will be driven into the sea and swept from Manchuria and Corea before the war has continued many months.

The Czar, it is asserted, is not in favor of the real steps of the country and has been led to believe that the war is exceedingly popular. His advisers have succeeded in persuading him that the intellectuals and the partisans of reform are responsible for all the hitches and disturbances and a diversion has thus been created in favor of the corrupt and inefficient bureaucracy.

It is pointed out here that the Russians were caught at Siungyo the same as they were at the Yalu, though on a smaller scale. The incident is regarded as being bound seriously to shake the Russian forces at Wafangkau, probably leading to their final withdrawal, and the disaster, taken with other indications of Japanese activity in the neighborhood, is regarded as likely to clear the way for a Japanese landing at Newchwang, which is supposed to be imminent.

Telegrams from Newchwang do not mention the Russian retreat there from mentioned by Admiral Togo.

NO MORE STANDING IN THE OPEN CARS?

Ordinance Is Introduced Making It a Misdemeanor Providing for the Punishment of Offenders by Fine or Imprisonment.

The end-seat ordinance introduced by Alderman Stapleton has had one good effect, it is asserted, is not in favor of the real steps of the country and has been led to believe that the war is exceedingly popular. His advisers have succeeded in persuading him that the intellectuals and the partisans of reform are responsible for all the hitches and disturbances and a diversion has thus been created in favor of the corrupt and inefficient bureaucracy.

It is pointed out here that the Russians were caught at Siungyo the same as they were at the Yalu, though on a smaller scale. The incident is regarded as being bound seriously to shake the Russian forces at Wafangkau, probably leading to their final withdrawal, and the disaster, taken with other indications of Japanese activity in the neighborhood, is regarded as likely to clear the way for a Japanese landing at Newchwang, which is supposed to be imminent.

Telegrams from Newchwang do not mention the Russian retreat there from mentioned by Admiral Togo.

CATARRH ROBS WOMEN OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Peru-na Makes Women Healthy and Beautiful.

Women All Over the United States
Praise Peru-na for Diseases
Peculiar to Their Sex.

Miss Florence Miller, 492 Alabama St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

"I am proud and happy that I am able to praise Peru-na as it deserves, for a better medicine I do not know for the ills so many women suffer from and do not know which way to turn for help. If all women who suffer as I did with periodical backache, headache and all worn out feeling would take Peru-na they would soon find that it put new life into the body and took away all the aches and pains and weariness.

"That has been my experience, and I gratefully acknowledge the blessing Peru-na has been to me."

MISS FLORENCE MILLER.

Disguised Catarrh.

There are a great many people who are actually invalids from chronic catarrh of some internal organ who have not the slightest suspicion that they are victims of this universal disease.

This is especially true in cases of chronic catarrh of the organs in the lower part of the abdomen or pelvic organs. It begins to manifest itself in a number of ways. We can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the various symptoms, and when a physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic and grateful letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

cause their strength and vitality is sapped away by catarrhal discharges. Peruna is such a specific for such cases that when patients have once used it they can never be induced to quit it until they are permanently cured. It begins to relieve the disagreeable symptoms at once. The backache ceases, the trembling knees are strengthened, the appetite restored, digestion made perfect, the dull headache is stopped and the patients are gradually cured. These results certainly follow course of treatment with Peruna.

We have on file many thousand testimonials from our readers, and we can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the vast amount of suffering and when a physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic and grateful letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

cause their strength and vitality is sapped away by catarrhal discharges. Peruna is such a specific for such cases that when patients have once used it they can never be induced to quit it until they are permanently cured. It begins to relieve the disagreeable symptoms at once. The backache ceases, the trembling knees are strengthened, the appetite restored, digestion made perfect, the dull headache is stopped and the patients are gradually cured. These results certainly follow course of treatment with Peruna.

We have on file many thousand testimonials from our readers, and we can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the vast amount of suffering and when a physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic and grateful letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

cause their strength and vitality is sapped away by catarrhal discharges. Peruna is such a specific for such cases that when patients have once used it they can never be induced to quit it until they are permanently cured. It begins to relieve the disagreeable symptoms at once. The backache ceases, the trembling knees are strengthened, the appetite restored, digestion made perfect, the dull headache is stopped and the patients are gradually cured. These results certainly follow course of treatment with Peruna.

We have on file many thousand testimonials from our readers, and we can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the vast amount of suffering and when a physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic and grateful letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.